TOKYO, Aug. 5.—Outright severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain unless the official attitude toward arrest of Japanese nationals shows more "sincerity" was threatened today by Japan.

"Drastic measures" will be forthcoming, Japan has informed the British government, if the tense situation revolving around the arrests "becomes worse". It was authoritatively stated.

Lodge Protest

The Japanese consul at Hong Kong today lodged a "vigorous protest" over the arrest of Gensu Yamaguchi, a prominent industrialist, who was among nine Japanese citizens held by British authorities in various parts of the empire.

With regard to the other arrests, Japan's foreign office spokesman maintained what the official Japanese news agency Domei character-

PA NEWS OBSERVES

For the odd sights department: Large white letters printed on the window of a West Washington street store inform passersby that there are still 144 shopping days until Christmas.

Some selfish persons go the entire span of their life without a conscious thought for their neighbors or friends, as is much illustrated by the fact that persons, who are spending the day in their car and driving through the city street, do not stop, even when a pet cat or dog crosses in front of their car. This Pa News noticed eleven dead cats, victims of hit and run drivers, and two run-over dogs, just alone on the streets of New Castle on Sunday afternoon.

An unusual manner in which to spend your Sunday afternoons, but yet a rather exciting way, also, is to take a back seat on the motorcycle of a friend and go rolling along the highways. Yesterday afternoon, this Pa News counted six such cases.

Courteous patrolmen who guard the New Bedford road, and also route 224, are making quite a hit with out of state motorists as they pass out variegated literature about Pennsylvania and also highway rules of the state, at the same time, answering any questions asked by the travelers. They stop all out of state cars and present their courtesy.

Many enquiries have been received by Owen Fox, city forester, in regard to the sorry condition of the trees, shrubs, and flowers, in the various parks throughout the city, despite the large amount of watering done by him and his assistants. Evaporation through the leaves of

'Playing Doctor' Kills Small Niece

Fifteen Year Old Harry Swogger Gives Small Tot "Water Cure" In Fredonia

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Aug. 5.—"We were just playing doctor, and she died!" That is the explanation of 15-year-old Harry Swogger of Fredonia, Pa., for the death of his niece, Lillian Swogger, aged three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Swogger of Fredonia, on Sunday.

State police and Mercer County Coroner James H. Biggins, who have investigated, say that the little tot was given the water cure by the lad with the use of a syringe. The child's sister, Iola, aged 11 years, was held as material witness by the officers.

The crime happened late Sunday afternoon at the home of Lillian's grandfather, Homer Swogger in Fredonia. The child's parents and grandfather were away for the day.

Harry stated that the sister, Iola, assisted him in the use of the water. The police are holding the defendant for hearing, and further questioning will be made to determine the degree of guilt for which each are responsible.

Harry is the youngest defendant ever held in Mercer county for homicide.

Gala Four-Day Fair Opens Tuesday Noon; Expect Throng Early

Tonight's predicted showers should "put the grounds in excellent shape" for the 1940 New Castle fair which opens its gates to the public for a four-day run Tuesday at 12 o'clock sharp, the fair management, in a final opening statement, declared today.

"We don't want it to rain all week, naturally," Secretary-Manager A. Clyde Shoaf explained. "But a rain tonight and tomorrow morning wouldn't do much harm. In fact, it would do much good."

Hope Tradition Tumbles
New Castle fairs of the past have been known to bring wet weather, but everybody from the head man to the humblest worker on the ground hopes that old tradition fades.

Opening tomorrow at noon, the exhibition, promising the public one of the best shows in the fair's long history, will continue until late Friday night. Night fairs will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening—but not Tuesday night.

Rushed work crews today were polishing up the buildings and grounds for the opening and the concessionaires were setting up their equipment.

Never in history, or for many years, has the fair been held so

Lindbergh Urges Co-operation With Victorious Nation

Warns We May Have To Deal With a Europe Dominated By Germany

URGES REARMAMENT, NON-INVOLVEMENT

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—To maintain civilization and peace throughout the world, the United States should rearm fully for defense and pursue a policy of cooperation with the victorious nation in Europe—be it Germany or Great Britain—in the opinion of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Addressing a monster "Keep America out of war rally" in soldier field yesterday, Lindbergh reiterated that he believes the United States should not become involved in European affairs. But, he added, it is of the utmost importance that this nation "cooperate with Europe in our relationships with the other peoples of the earth."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 5.—In the privacy of his Hudson Valley home, President Roosevelt today plotted a second swing to see how fast American defenses are reaching "total preparedness" against any possible attack.

On what was billed as a strictly non-political tour, the president was expected to inspect northeastern defenses before the week was out in line with his announced policy of making a careful, first-hand study of progress on the multi-billion dollar defense program.

Inspect Sub Base

William Cummings Dies Of Injuries In Auto Accident

Instantly Killed When His Car Crashes Near Overhead At Hillsville

RACING ANOTHER CAR OFFICIALS CLAIM

William Cummings, aged 20, of Grimes street, was killed when an automobile which he was driving, left the highway on Route 224, just east of the overhead pass into Hillsville at the St. Lawrence church, and crashed into a guard railing, Sunday morning at 12:30 o'clock. Cummings was pronounced dead on arrival at the Jameson Memorial hospital. He had suffered a broken left leg and arm, and a fracture of the skull.

Thomas Boughter, aged 57, of 1114 South Jefferson street, his son, William Boughter, of Court street, and C. L. Ward, of 27 Atlantic avenue, who were passengers in Cummings' car, escaped with but slight injuries. Thomas Boughter being treated for slight lacerations of the head and left leg, at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The victims of the crash were brought to the hospital here by C. G. Bowman, of 887 Harrison avenue, Akron, O., who was passing the scene of the accident.

According to State Motor police and Coroner T. F. Nugent, who investigated the crash, Cummings was racing with another car which was trying to pass him, and was going at a high rate of speed, when he lost control of the car. It first veered to the left side of the road and then across to the right, where it apparently turned around and struck the guard railing with the front of the car headed in the opposite direction from which they had been traveling, towards Youngstown.

Nick Conti, who resides near the scene of the crash, was first on the scene and notified State Motor Police and the Coroner. He also summoned assistance to bring the victims to the hospital here.

The occupants of Cummings' car were enroute to Youngstown, it was stated, when the crash occurred. William Cummings, born in New Castle on August 5, 1920, son of Rolling and Olive Dannels Cummings would have been 20 years of age today. He spent all of his life in this city where he was employed as a mechanic.

Surviving are his parents, one brother, Bernie Cummings; one sister, Mrs. Mary Bunnell of this city, one uncle, J. J. McDannel, this city, and one aunt, Mrs. Florence Brown, of Texas.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Cunningham Funeral home, East Washington and Chestnut streets with Rev. C. J. Burton, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, in charge. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home this evening.

British Scatter Nazi War Planes In Coast Battle

CLAIM VICTORIES IN MEDITERRANEAN

London Claims Germans Have Lost 2,661 Planes And 10,000 Men In War

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A new series of successes for the fast and ultra-powerful spitfire planes of the Royal Air Force was announced by the British air ministry today in a communiqué asserting that at least three German Messerschmitts crashed in the English Channel during dog-fights.

Several separate encounters were described by the ministry, which said that only one British plane was lost. The battles were cited as proof of the contention that the spitfires, each equipped with eight machine-gun, are far superior to the much-vaunted German Messerschmitts.

One Britisher Missing

The statement said one Royal Air Force fighting plane was missing. Fighting planes of both nations went into action off the coast after Nazi raiders lashed at England during the night but failed to cause serious damage, according to the ministry. Renewed action over England broke out in the wake of damaging British air attacks on German bases and concentrations.

German aircraft dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on a "few isolated districts" in the midlands and eastern England, it was stated.

The announcement said that the damage was "negligible" and that the raids caused only a few casualties, including one fatality.

Early this morning enemy planes were reported over southeast England, where a number of explosions were heard. German aircraft also flew over northeastern England, where searchlight batteries went into action.

Series Of Raids

The German raiders became active after British communications announced a series of Royal Air Force attacks on German naval bases, scattered motorized German troops massing on the coast opposite England and wrecked other military objectives, including synthetic oil plants.

Meanwhile, the London Daily Express claimed that the German air force has lost 2,661 planes and 10,000 pilots and observers since the war began. British losses for the same period were estimated by the Express at 643 planes and 1,800 lives.

The British admiral, at the same time, announced the sinking of the British naval trawler Cape Finisterre under a German air

Willkie Insists On Expense Limit

'Out-Hatches' Act Limiting Expenses

Republicans To Spend Half Million Less Than Hatch Act Permits For Campaign

ONLY VOLUNTEERS USED AS SPEAKERS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The Republican campaign to elect Wendell Willkie to the presidency was in full swing today as National Chairman Joseph W. Martin returned here to divide a $2,500,000 budget throughout the G. O. P. organization.
The $2,500,000 limit was fixed by Willkie himself, in order to keep Republican expenditures well below the $3,000,000 figure set by the Hatch "Clean Politics act."

Democrats Quiet
The Democratic campaign to re-elect President Roosevelt to an unprecedented third term, meanwhile, remained in abeyance, pending transfer of the Democratic National chairmanship from James A. Farley to Edward J. Flynn. The Democrats will get going late this month, concentrating on the short election campaign favored by the president.
The Republicans, however, have about completed their organization. Chairman Martin has named Rep. Dudley A. White, of Ohio, as director of the speaker's division with headquarters in Chicago. White will be given a budget of $50,000 for clerical expenses, in contrast to $301,000 spent for like purposes in the 1936 campaign. He also has been given orders to employ only volunteers speakers, a distinct change from the past, when political orators were hired at so much per week to campaign for the presidential nominee.

Farm Chairman
Martin also appointed Rep. Clifford R. Hope, of Kansas as chairman of the Republican farm division. Hope headed the G. O. P. farm committee in the house. With headquarters in Chicago, Hope will be assisted by Rep. August H. Andresen, of Minnesota. The chairman has yet to name fifteen personal assistants, who will represent him in as many different sections of the country.

Observers here expect both the president and Willkie to do most of their campaigning over the radio. The president has said he must remain close to Washington because of the international situation. Willkie, due both to the G. O. P. budget limitations and the fact that after the notification ceremonies, there will be only eleven weeks until the election. Four years ago Alf M. Landon, began his campaign in late July and continued it through to the election.

Demand Equal Time
The radio aspects of the campaign have aroused concern among Republicans. They revealed that Willkie will demand equal free time from the radio chains whenever Mr. Roosevelt is given free time for a fireside chat from the White House. The question probably will be raised at the national convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, opening today in San Francisco. A radio spokesman said:
"The radio industry will not lend itself to any attempt to sidestep the Hatch act or any other law. You can be sure that the code committee of the association, before our convention concludes, will adopt every possible safeguard to see that commercial broadcasters do not use their programs for exploitation of any political candidates. It never has been done and it won't begin now."

ITALIANS CLAIM AERIAL VICTORY

terpreted the first part of the communiqué as indicating an "unsuccessful British attempt" to thwart an anticipated Italian blow from Libya against Egypt and the Suez Canal. That such a blow may be struck was predicted yesterday by the newspaper Corriere Della Sera, which said it would prove the "most destructive blow imaginable" at the British empire.
"East African natives concurred in repelling an enemy attack on Mamaraput. Lake Rodolfo and Berbera were bombed and one ship was hit" the communiqué added.
"The enemy bombed Massawa, causing slight damage to the port and killing four persons and wounding 30, two enemy planes were shot down and a third probably was brought down."
"Anti-aircraft defenses shot down one enemy plane at Cassala."

Texas Technological college has established an art-lending library where students may rent pictures to hang upon the walls of dormitory rooms.

A factional meeting at Osaka adopted a resolution that Tokyo "annihilate the influence of outrageous Britain," a copy of the resolution was telegraphed to British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie.
The meeting urged the Japanese government to take a strong stand against Britain.
Simultaneously the Kobe Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution recommending that Britain "be ordered" to reconsider her attitude toward Japan.
Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was received by Emperor Hirohito in the latter's country residence at Hayama. They were reported to have discussed the Anglo-Japanese situation.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Great Britain moved nearer to a showdown with Japan today as additional arrests brought the number of Japanese citizens held in various parts of the British empire to nine.
In addition to four Japanese held in London, it was disclosed five other Japanese are now in custody—one in Hong Kong, one in Singapore and three in Rangoon.
British reports from Hong Kong said that a Japanese merchant was arrested in the far eastern crown colony under British emergency defense regulations. A Reuters dispatch identified him as Geturo Yamaguchi, manager of the Yamaguchi company.
Word from Singapore said police at that important British base detained Ishiro Kobayashi, manager of the Japanese eastern news agency. Identification of the three Japanese seized at Rangoon was not completely clear.

Journalists Held
A Reuters dispatch from Shanghai quoted the official Japanese (Domei) news agency as stating that they were business men named Ichiro Orihata, Tadashi Oba and Naoto Kokubo.
Earlier, however, the London Daily Mail said the Japanese embassy in London had identified the trio at Rangoon as journalists, adding:

"We have not been notified regarding the official reasons for their arrests."
Editor's Note: A dispatch from Tokyo said the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri reported that the Nipponese ministers of foreign affairs, war and navy conferred regarding the arrests and that "important results" could be expected. The report added that Japanese newspapers continued to demand "some form of action against England."
(Some of the Japanese papers demanded an immediate diplomatic rupture with England in reply to what was termed Britain's "brutal retaliation" for the arrests of Britons in Japan on charges of espionage. The newspaper Nichi Nichi urged:
"Japan had better meet outrage with outrage.")

'RED' MURDER RING EXPOSED ON COAST

Ford, automobile manufacturer, will be given a "chance to join the party" or be shot.
Details of the asserted plot against the government and the murders were not revealed, but Fitts announced that the entire matter will be presented to the Los Angeles county grand jury tomorrow morning.

Old Killing
Investigation of a five-year-old slaying resulted in the uncovering of the sensational reactionary plot, Fitts reports. He said that evidence to be given by a parade of secret witnesses before the jury will undoubtedly disclose ramifications of the communist element throughout southern California and possibly the Pacific coast.
The plot was charged coincident with the announcement of the arrest of Britain Webster, 27-year-old asserted communist, in San Pedro in connection with the murder of John R. Riley, a member of the sailors' union, who died of a beating during bitter waterfront strife in 1935.
Riley was a member of a group of unionists who were pledged to ferret out members of the communist party within the ranks of labor. He was slain in a waterfront free-for-all.

GALA FOUR-DAY FAIR OPENS TUESDAY NOON; EXPECT THROG EARLY

early. For years past it has been held late in August or early in September. This year it ranks up front with the opening fairs.
Brings Distant Folk
Off the Harlansburg road a short distance, the well-groomed fair grounds offer a showplace within easy driving range from many towns and cities of western Pennsylvania. Delegates will attend from many surrounding counties.
The full staff of the New Castle Agricultural association, the organization which sponsors the fair, had moved into its offices at the fair site this morning. The downtown office of the organization was deserted because all the work and all the clerical tasks are for the week centered "on the ground."

Shows Add Entertainment
A mid-way show and a sparkling evening revue, the Lawrence Greater Shows, one of the finest on the road, have been engaged for the week's run. Horse racing is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at 1. A saddle horse show and a Boy Scout pageant, altogether an innovation for the fair, are scheduled for Friday afternoon. Particularly impressive this year will be the horses and racing features.
Commenting on that department of the fair, Secretary Shofa said:
"We have the best and fastest classification of race horses this year that we've ever had, and tell the public that."

Debate Opens
Today, in Washington, congress starts debate on the president's request for authority to call out the National Guard for extended training. Behind the measure is the compulsory conscription bill the chief executive has declared himself to be "definitely" in favor of enactment of selective service training.

By direct telephone to the White House Mr. Roosevelt kept himself fully informed of the progress of congressional debate and action on these two measures he considered essential to national defense.

many trees has occurred, because the sun-pull recently has been so severe, that it has sapped the moisture from out of the leaves, leaving them in a sunburnt condition, states Mr. Fox.

The first signs of the coming fall are showing on the leaves of the gumwood trees. This tree is quite outstanding for its beautiful foliage of cardinal red, which makes its change of colorful appearance, from green to red, ahead of all other trees. Owen Fox states that there are two of these species of trees in Gaston Park, and another notable feature is their deep bark ridges. These trees are now about sixty feet in height, and sometimes attain a height of one hundred feet.

nor Wilson; Governor Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin; Governor Payne Ratner of Kansas; Governor Harlan J. Bushfield of North Dakota; Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Governor Ralph Carr of Colorado.

Meets With Leaders
The more than 60 farm leaders expected to spend at least three hours in session at the state house with the conference opening about 9 a. m.
Shortly after noon, the conferees were to adjourn for lunch at the Hotel Savary with Willkie and guests of the state central committee.

Leaving the state house, he was to pause long enough at the east entrance to be seen by an expected crowd of 10,000 for which police arrangements had been made.
After lunch Willkie was to hold a press conference for editors of Iowa daily papers with a session for weekly papers editors, following.
During the afternoon he was to meet Iowa farmers in groups and individually.

No plans for the evening were scheduled although Mr. and Mrs. Willkie had invitations to attend a Willkie day dance sponsored by a local Republican organization.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME
If New Castle would use some of the money they are raising to send to foreign countries and buy a few well located play grounds; employ some good supervisors; make it compulsory that the younger children play there; take them out of the alleys and by-ways of New Castle on holidays and evenings, where they roll in filth, gather up and smoke cigarette stubs that are thrown away, and study up crime, we believe Charity would begin at home.

These are our future citizens, and by the looks of things now, we will never know when we will need these well trained, well educated men and women to defend our country.

We hear a lot about Mountain Whites in the South. The way they live, it can't be any worse than some of the conditions around New Castle.

COOK-GRAVENSTRETER WEDDING AT LAKEWOOD

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Lakewood, O., on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Clement church when Miss Dolores Ann Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cook, Lakewood, became the bride of Paul R. Gravenstreter of Gary, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Gravenstreter, New Wilmington road.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white lace gown and veil, the latter falling from a heart-shaped cap. Bridesmaids, the Misses Gertrude Kraemer and Betty Rosebaugh, wore similar gowns in pastel shades. The bridegroom's attendants were Gene Cook, Thomas J. Cook, Jr., James P. Gravenstreter of Gary, Ind., and Thomas Gravenstreter of New Wilmington road.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Lake Shore hotel, Lakewood, and a reception was held at the Cook home in the afternoon.

FIVE GENERATIONS AT ESPOSITO ANNIVERSARY

Saturday, August 3, marked one of the loveliest parties of the season when members of the immediate family of Mrs. Josephine Esposito, R. D. 7, gathered on the lawn of her residence, to assist in celebrating her 87th birthday anniversary. Five generations surrounded her on this memorable occasion.

Informal diversions, including contests, and dancing on an improvised pavilion, to music of a popular orchestra, were included on the evening's program. Tasty refreshments were served and those included on the host list were the honoree's five children, Adam Esposito, Mrs. Anthony Lombardo, Mrs. James Presnell, Mrs. Cosmo Bolisco and Mrs. Paul Cuccilli.

An interesting feature was the singing by Tobe Penati of New York City, who is visiting here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lombardo of Harrison street, and who is also a grandson of Mrs. Esposito. He is studying under a famed teacher in that city and will be presented at a spring debut in preparation for his Metropolitan Opera company engagements. His selections were the beautiful "Ave Maria," Charles Gounod, and "Little Mother of Mine," accompanied by the orchestra. The honoree has 53 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren and three

OVERREACHING FOR POWER

THE interesting observation is made by Raymond Clapper, newspaper columnist who has been friendly to the New Deal, that the third term question involves the overreaching for power and that "has been the point that has brought to Mr. Roosevelt his major defeats"

Columnist Clapper points out that the President has suffered no major defeats when championing social and economic reforms. "Only when a case has been made on the ground that he was seeking undue power has he gone down." The three major instances recalled are rejection of his effort to pack the Supreme Court, defeat of the administration's reorganization bills and failure of the senatorial purge campaigns.

Mr. Clapper believes that "the same line of attack which was so effective against Mr. Roosevelt in those instances will be dominant in the attack on the third term."

The American people, especially at this time when one-man governments are ruling practically all of continental Europe, are particularly opposed to increasing the power of one man in the American government. They showed that, as Mr. Clapper said, in their opposition to the Supreme Court packing and reorganization efforts.

The historic American tradition which limits presidential tenure to two terms and which Mr. Roosevelt now is attempting to violate, is, Mr. Clapper says, "sharply defined in the utterances of several American presidents in the Democratic platform of 1896 and in the Springer resolution adopted by the house of representatives in 1875, in which it was stated that a departure from the two-term practice 'would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions.' That resolution was readopted by the senate in 1928 as a protest against a 'draft Coolidge' movement. Senator Barkley, permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention this year, voted for the resolution, which was offered by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin."

We believe public opinion, which in the past has frustrated ambitious officials in their attempt to grasp more governmental power, again will rise up and assert itself in the election this year, to preserve the unwritten law that no president of the United States shall serve more than two terms.

BELITTling HAVANA TRUE NAZI POLICY

German newspapers, although reticent in their comments on the Pan-American conference at Havana which closed the other day, belittle the results of the parley and apparently seek to give their readers the impression that the United States has been trying to take advantage of the Latin American countries.

Not so long ago Chancellor Hitler, disavowing intent to attack this Hemisphere, loudly insisted that he favored "America for the Americans." Why is it, then, if the Nazis are so disinterested regarding the New World, that they seldom lose an opportunity to deride this country and criticize its relations with its neighbors?

The truth appears to be that the Nazis are not disinterested regarding the Americas; that, on the contrary, they are working all the time to undermine New World democracy and implant here the ruthless principles of totalitarianism. Against Nazi, Fascist and Communist borings Americans must be constantly on guard.

REVELATION OF HAND CLASPS

Nothing so eloquently reveals character as the hand-clasp. One may train his voice to express courage and a cordiality unpossessed; one may acquire a poker-face; one may feign pleasure at meeting and displeasure at parting; but the offered hand neither conceals nor deceives. A blind man, deaf and dumb from birth, can read this message of the hand.

Is it a strong hand that functions with the irresistible determination of a vise? If it is, it belongs to a he-man—a go-getter—or to a true friend. Its warm and sturdy clasp belong to a frank countenance and a feeling heart.

Is it a hand that gives a quick, slight pressure and at once liberates itself? That sort belong to the busy man and is born of independence and individualism.

Is it a limp hand? Then it belongs to a limp man, to one who is too tired to be interested in persons and things. To him hand shaking is an unnecessary formality in which no energy should be wasted.

Is it a lingering hand which caresses rather than clasps and which refuses to liberate its prey until it has accomplished its purpose? This is the practiced handclasp of the politician. It belongs to the man with a "mission" or a "message."

THEY ALL REMEMBER NOW

Once upon a time, in the memory of men now living, a newspaper man was a curiously anonymous workman, strictly objective in his viewpoint, whose main purpose was to report facts without intruding his own personality. His own doings were rarely, if ever, news. Nobody cared, ordinarily, what he thought about things. It might have been assumed that, like other men, he had felt the impact of certain emotions, but the details of neither his personal nor professional life were regarded as being of any possible public interest. What he called shop talk was regarded, indeed, as being a bit boring. True, now and then a doddering old fellow would throw together a book of recollections, but few of these volumes ever amounted to much.

But all this has been changed. First, the surgeons and physicians, whose lives hitherto had been cloaked in discreet silence, crashed through to write best-sellers. Then came the newspaper men, notably Vincent Sheehan with his "Personal History." Some experts trace the trend a little farther back than Sheehan, but he must take his share of the blame—if blame there is. The floodgates are down now. The fall lists of books are out; they show dozens of newspaper books on the way, with more threatened in the offing. If we must have a lot of books, there seems to be no reason why newspaper men shouldn't write their quota—"My Six Months as an Obituary Editor," "I saw the Elder Morgan," "Appointment With Chancey Depew," "Ten Thousand Plates of Roast Chicken," "Spavined Leg-Man," "Keyhole King," and so on and on. But one warning: This fad, too, shall pass.—New York Herald-Tribune.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SOME FATHERS CAN'T UNDERSTAND

"DEAR DR. MYERS: I am sixteen years old and finishing my third year at high school. I live with my father's mother and his brothers and sisters. My father is only thirty-eight but he has very old-fashioned ideas. His sister, the one that stays at home, is only thirty-four. She has never gone out with boys or men in her life and in a way she may be called a manhater."

"My father works nights and I do not get to see him very often. When I do we never talk to each other as father and daughter but more like two strangers. He considers me more or less as a child. I know I'm not fully grown-up but he should try to realize I am no longer a child."

"My first year at high school I did not pay any attention to the boys. The second year I was more accustomed to the routine and my studies. Then I joined several clubs. I became quite popular and made a lot of friends."

"Father said that when he thinks I'm old enough to tell him what I know I can't tell him a thing 'cause he simply won't listen. He thinks I'm the right age at which to begin to notice boys. When I am 18 I shall be out working for a living. I feel that one should enjoy other young people's company before leaving high school because after a person leaves school and goes to work he becomes more settled down and begins to have new cares. I'm sure you will see my point. Will you please advise me how to get my father to see that if he forbids me all of the above he is depriving me of something that cannot be replaced."

My reply in part:
"While I agree with you, I keep thinking of the best thing for you to do. But for your aunt, your father might be more reasonable. 'Try not to let yourself 'blow-up' with either of them. Try to please them in other respects so you may lead them to be more ready to ease up in relation to your boy friend. Be open and above board. Any deception will be hazardous to your purpose."

"Working over a period of weeks, try to get into the good grace of Dad. Look after his physical comforts. Get him to tell you about his work and his interests. By and by, at a quiet moment, when with him alone, put your arms around his neck, look up into his eyes and, without any bitterness but with irresistible tenderness, quietly tell him your problem as you see it and beg him to relax on his regulations."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AIRCRAFT

Skepticism in the aircraft industry as to possibilities for mass production of airplanes probably arises from lack of knowledge of the refinements developed in recent years in the manufacture of automobiles. The Liberty airplane engine produced by the automobile industry during the World War never won much acclaim. Perhaps the memory of those days has something to do with the present attitude of aircraft manufacturers toward quantity production. But that was twenty years ago and in the meantime the methods and quality of automobile manufacture have changed as much as the superficial appearance of the vehicles.

In making the mass-produced and interchangeable parts of the modern automobile engine, machines now work to minute tolerances. The honing of bearings is done by machines which reject an error of one-millionth of an inch, an accuracy which the handicraft methods still employed in most aircraft manufacturing cannot even rival.

In aircraft manufacturing is "backward" in such matters, it is not the fault of the technicians, but of lack of opportunity to develop quantity methods. Manufacture has been largely experimental. Models have changed, not yearly but continually. The market would not permit quantity output of any one model, even if keen technical competition had permitted it.

The big difficulty the layman has foreseen in mass-production aircraft is in the building of wings and fuselages, involving the use of millions of tiny hand-set rivets. But Henry Ford says this can be overcome by substituting welding and brazing and his word is good enough for us.

A greater obstacle may prove finally to be the conservatism of present aircraft manufacturers, who will might resist the invasion of their field by mass-producing competitors. Their co-operation is indispensable, however, and their patriotism will not be found wanting.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:12. Sun rises tomorrow 5:00.

The heat, or sumpin' is surely responsible for a lot of queer things.

We often read of people found dead who were supposed to be very poor and then thousands of dollars are found stuck around in many places. We also read of some who are supposed to be very rich and the heirs could find very little after they were dead.

In homes where marriage is a success the mother-in-law joke never had any standing.

Hysteria repeats itself.

IF I FAIL

If I fail I'll start all over again; Success is sweet that way. I'll never let them think I'm beaten; I'll show 'em all some day.

I'll start at the place I took a spill; I still have got my pride. Success, they say, begins with one's will. An I've got what it takes inside.

I may never be much to look at, I may never reach the hall of fame, But success and me are going to stay put—I'm going to play the game.

The fight is only just begun; I'll dig right down to the core, And before another day is done, If I fail, I'll start once more.

The truth once told, remains told, and there is no come back. Train up a child in the way he should go and if he jaywalks in traffic it will be at his own risk.

"Now as to your evenings out," began the housewife as she discussed terms with the prospective maid. "I have taken up the question with my husband, and he has agreed to meet you half way."

"Oh, that won't be necessary ma'am," interrupted the maid. "My boy friend will take me right to the door."

It's a very serious job to make the seed catalogue come true.

Any light is bright on a black night to the wanderer, who is far from home and lost. Even a little oil lamp in a window has been known to have a comforting gleam.

Many a good proposition loses its effect from the politics of some behind it.

Home is a place where you don't strain to seem brightly interested in something you don't care a darn about.

Apparently many women like to see what they can make of a divorced man.

Real evidence of a man catching fish is when he brings a bundle of them home and distributes them among his friends. He don't have to blow about the fish he caught then.

CUSTOM EXAMINATION
"What have you in there?"
"Some tins of sardines."
"Good—open them."

Electric lights are now put up so baseball games can be played at night. So far lights have not been put up in harvest fields so work can be done at night. That is where they could be used to some good advantage.

Grape juice is a popular drink. It is even more so when it bubbles.

A doctor received this note:
"Please call and see my husband. It's his head. He's had it off and on all yesterday and today he's sitting with it in his hand between his knees."

WITNESS: "Well, my husband is a golfer and my son drives a second-hand flivver."

Perpetuation of poverty for political purpose can never be rated a lofty ideal.

A business that is not worth advertising in a newspaper isn't worth having.

The night hawk was wandering around at an early hour in the morning when a police prowl car pulled up to him.

"Pretty late to be out, isn't it?" asked the policeman. "Have you any explanation for wandering around at such an hour."

"Don't be a dumb bunny," snorted the man. "If I had a good explanation for being out late I'd have been home telling it to my wife long ago."

Remember when a man felt embarrassed if caught looking at a show window display of silk hose? How time flies!

You can always depend upon a reliable newspaper to not publish the rot spilled by those against the government.

ENDED WELL
"How was your speech received last night?"
"Well, when I sat down, they said it was the best thing that I ever did."

To feel patriotic while paying taxes is a sign of good citizenship.

Some days ago we read about $5 counterfeit bills being circulated. Now we read it's $10 bills that are being given out. If we see a $10 we will try and find out if it is good or not.

"The wife and I are going out to see a model home this evening," remarked a man to the fellow at the next desk in the office.

"I'm not doing anything this evening and I'd be glad to go along," said the other fellow. "How far out does she live?"

If God knows the man did his best, unselfishly, we can't believe the rest matters much.

The only kind of way we ask some birds to do is to stay away from us.

Final proof of vanity is our astonishment when people we know choose to associate with other people instead of us.

A land of free speech is one where any citizen can speak his mind, no matter who disagrees with him, provided he can make himself heard above the boos.

The only fault in good manners is that people may dislike you and keep you fooled for years by behaving too well.

Asked what her height of happiness would be, a new girl in the beauty shoppe says he is exactly six feet high.

If we are all to be crazy 60 years hence, why wait?

The girl applied for a job in the beauty chorus and sent along a photograph. Not receiving any reply, she made a personal call on the manager, who told her it was too late.

"Is the position filled?" she asked. "No," said the manager. "What I meant was that you should have come when you had your picture taken."

Democrats Planning Unique Campaign
Want To Keep Solid South This Year
Republicans Also Eye Votes In Dixie

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

FOR THE first time since Civil war days Democratic party leaders are discussing plans for a vigorous campaign to hold the Solid South in the coming presidential election.

Hertofore they've reckoned that the southern states didn't need much attention; that they were bound to go Democratic, anyway.

Now, however, they're getting reports of considerable southern grumbling over the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket. It also is well known that Republican Chairman Joseph Martin is going to make a hard fight throughout Dixie for Willkie and McNary. In the past, the Republicans, like the Democrats, have paid little attention to that part of the country; not because they didn't wish they could win it over, but because they didn't believe they could possibly do so.

Southern Republicans' votes have been prized at G. O. P. conventions, inasmuch as they were useful in swinging nominations, but it wasn't considered that there were enough of them to be worth trying for in November.

This time, though, with Chairman Martin as Republicanly hopeful as he evidently is, and with their own local observers in the southland hinting at a certain amount of uneasiness, New Deal strategists are tending to the view that southern voters need some intensive cultivation.

Southern Statesmanship
Southern statesmanship, as distinguished from the rank-and-file of the electorate, isn't expected, even by the Willkieites, to do much out-and-out bolting from the Democratic nominees.

It's largely disgruntled, but it can't abandon the Democratic party in favor of any other party that suits it a bit better.

Apparently, like Senator (Cotton Ed) Smith, is simply will resort to "passive resistance," a sit-down strike. It will stay on the premises but it won't do a lick for the Democratic ticket. That is to say, to a considerable extent it won't.

New Deal leaders recognize that such a situation requires some counteracting.

Just how they'll go about it isn't quite apparent yet.

For one thing, their national committee is scarcely functioning, with Chairman Farley just quitting. They doubtless trust in providence, too, that the southern atmosphere presently will improve, from their standpoint.

Yet they generally agree that this isn't a year in which the south can safely be neglected.

Chairman Martin isn't giving them long to think about it, either.

Republican Claims
The Willkieites probably claim too much to the credit of the organization.

To hear their spokesmen talk about it, one would guess that playing in New Orleans, a friend stopped him as he was about to enter a gambling house, saying "Don't go in there. The game is crooked!" Thompson paused for a second and then pushed on with this rejoinder: "Well, it's the only place in town that is open." He died in 1911 at the age of seventy-seven.

Among the hundreds of refugees fleeing the terror riding Europe was the famous Belgian dramatist Maurice Maeterlinck, rich yesterday, broke today. He's seventy-seven now, the author of "The Blue Bird" and so many other delightful essays, and his hair is quite white.

"All is gone," he says. "I am stunned, and yet I am surprised at the ease with which I accept all this."

I think the last previous time Maeterlinck was over here was in 1919, when Sam Goldwyn imported the Belgian genius and then didn't.

That ancient and honorable tear-jerker, "The Old Homestead," is still dragging in the customers in its old home town at West Swaney, New Hampshire, this time to raise funds to repair the old organ. Let's go to the show tonight with the good people of West Swaney. The curtain rises.

The scene is Broadway and Tenth Street, in wicked New York City. The gray pile of old Grace Church rises at the right. A dim light illumines the stained glass windows. A gentleman in a top hat and evening clothes stands on the pavement and with a wave of his arms holds back a gray helmeted policeman who grips a nightstick. A young man, quite ossified, lies prone on the cold, hard sidewalk of the town. Over him bends an old gentleman, with silvery hair, who looks like a combination of Henry Ward Beecher, P. T. Barnum and William J. Bryan, all put in one person.

Tenderly this patriarch lifts the fallen one and pillows him on a rheumatic knee. Suddenly his broad and ruddy face takes on a look of surprise and sorrow. "Why," he exclaims, "it's my boy, Rubie!" Five hundred women are sobbing audibly. Five hundred strong men seek in vain to veil the futile tear. The youth comes to his senses and looks into the face of his sorrowing father. Remorse and repentance overwhelm him. He gathers himself together. He will go back to the farm and tells the world, "I'll give old John Barleycorn the toughest tussle he ver had." We clap and whistle at this triumph of virtue.

And we are only a small part of the ten million who over a quarter of a century have paid five million dollars to witness the most popular play which ever toured the land.

"The Old Homestead." It evolved from a one-act drama of rural life, which the author, Demon Thompson, called "Joshua Whitcomb." As "The Old Homestead" it played to 300,000 persons in its first three months. After ten years Mr. Thompson sought to retire. He suffered from rheumatism, and he had to do the role of the kindly old farmer, masking from adoring audiences the terrific pains which wracked his body.

The character grew upon him so that oftstage he was a real "Uncle Joshua," noted for his charity and benevolence. He had one weakness, which, if known generally, might have horrified many of his patrons in the hinterlands, and that was gambling. Between acts on Broadway he would find time to get to the poolrooms and place his bets on the horses.

Union Service At Cascade Park

Emanuel Evangelical Church
Pastor And Choir In Charge
Of Sunday Service

"When Do You Look for the Coming of Jesus?" was the subject chosen by Rev. Clyde W. Dietrich, pastor of the Emanuel Evangelical church, for his sermon at the union service in the community house at Cascade Park, Sunday evening.

In his address, Mr. Dietrich, stressed three points, those who look back to the time when Jesus was on earth and wish they could have lived then, those who look forward to his second coming, and the looking for the coming of Jesus now.

The choir of the Emanuel Evangelical church, under the direction of George Strehler, who also led the congregational singing, presented two beautiful selections. There was a good attendance at this service.

Union services at the park sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association, will continue through the first Sunday in September, the remainder of the schedule being as follows: August 11, Rev. Philip C. Pearson, Trinity Episcopal church; August 18, Rev. J. A. Cousins, Croton Methodist church; August 25, Sankey night, Rev. W. A. Thornton, Epworth Methodist church and W. V. McLean, First Methodist church; concluding service, September 1, at Central Christian church, Rev. T. B. Shearer, pastor, president of the association.

Eagles' Picnic Enjoyed By Many

Attendance Higher Than Any Previous Picnic In Many Years

A mushball game and exciting races helped 500 participants to enjoy Sunday's all-day stag picnic of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Idlewood park, off County Line road.

Sponsored by New Castle Aeris 455, the annual outing broke all kinds of records this year. Attendance hit a new high and the sports stirred more enthusiasm.

The Eagles lodge provided free taxi service from the South Jefferson street lodge home to the picnic grounds from noon until late in the evening.

Louis C. Krueger, worth president, and his able entertainment committee chairman, George B. Cowan, were credited with the success of the day. Cowan directed the sports and looked after most of the fun-making.

Lunch was served a steady line of Eagles through most of the day.

Chief contest results were: The "Yanigans," a pick-up team, won the mushball tilt, the single men outpulled the married men in the "tug-of-war"; Howard Hunter won the wheelbarrow race; Bill Regan and O. Grannis won the three-legged race, and Bill Regan won the 100-yard dash.

Will Hold Man On Murder Count

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—Because they have a "good case of circumstantial evidence against him," Pittsburgh police today were scheduled to attempt to circumnavigate a ruling by the coroner in order to have Joseph Labonati held as the slayer of Carrie Kolb, divorcee, and her boarder, John Edgar Ewing.

Coroner Dr. P. J. Henney declared that regulations require the police department to either produce an eye-witness to the slaying, or produce a confession from the suspect. "Simply producing a suspect and saying he had a motive is not enough," the coroner said.

Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan declared: "It is true that we do not have a witness who will say that's the man, and we do not have a confession from Labonati, but we think we have a good case of circumstantial evidence against him."

The couple were slain while they sat in a car in West Carson street. Labonati, police asserted, had given Miss Kolb large sums of money in the previous two years.

nor we are strong enough to police the earth against the opposition of the other.

"In the past we have dealt with a Europe dominated by England and France. In the future we may have to deal with a Europe dominated by Germany. But whether England or Germany wins this war, Western civilization will still depend upon two great centers, one in each hemisphere."

Asserting that a war between the dominant European power and America "could easily last for generations and bring all civilization tumbling down" Col. Lindbergh told the throng of about 40,000 that an agreement between the two powers "could maintain civilization and peace throughout the world as far into the future as we can see."

COOPERATION POSSIBLE

"But we are often told," he continued, "that if Germany wins this war cooperation will be impossible, and treaties no more than scraps of paper. I reply that cooperation never is impossible when there is sufficient gain on both sides, and that treaties are seldom torn apart when they do not cover a weak nation."

"I would be among the last to advocate depending upon treaties for our national safety. I believe that we should rearm fully for the defense of America and that we should never make the type of treaty that would lay us open to invasion if it were broken. But if we refuse to consider treaties with the dominant nation of Europe, regardless of who that may be, we remove all possibility of peace."

"Nothing is to be gained by shouting names and pointing the finger of blame across the ocean," Lindbergh asserted. He declared that America's "grandstand advice" to England had been neither wanted nor helpful, and said accusations of Germany "simply bring back echoes of hypocrisy and Versailles."

Regarding the chance of America's involvement in the European war, Lindbergh said:

Warns of War Mongers

"There are still interests in this country and abroad who will do their utmost to draw us into war. Against these interests we must be continuously on guard. But American opinion is now definitely and overwhelmingly against our involvement."

Another principal speaker at the rally was Senator Patrick McCarran of Nevada. Senator McCarran declared America's course should be to make itself impregnable and "make known to the world that neither ambition nor fear nor favoritism will cause us to make war abroad."

He assailed conscription as "unnecessary and undemocratic."

Pittsburgh Store Window Is Damaged By Flames Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—Fire caused an estimated $2,500 damage to furs and women's clothing in a display window of Kaufmann's department store today.

A pedestrian discovered the flames before the store opened and sounded an alarm. The fire did not interfere with the store's operations and it was open as usual.

Firemen had to smash the glass in a door and then crawl through an opening three feet square to get into the window. Fire Chief Hugh Hunter said it was his opinion the fire was caused either by the heat of a bulb in the window or a short-circuited wire.

Safeguard Freedom

He said if a proper method can be worked out, this country "will safeguard her freedom and security by making available to the British or Canadian governments at least fifty of the over-age destroyers which are left from the days of the World War."

"The men who are best qualified to know what is going on in Europe and in Asia and in this hemisphere," Pershing continued, "The men whose business it is to know the facts, are very nearly unanimous in believing what I am saying to you... that grave danger for us lurks in the present world situation. So the time has come when we must rise up as a united people to make secure our country's independence and our great inheritance of constitutional liberty."

know what to do with him when he got him. He was quite a flop as it turned out. Maurice Maeterlinck reached the zenith of his career with the aid of a great dramatic actress, the gorgeously beautiful Georgette Leblanc. She stood between him and a world which he never understood. Like the exquisite figure of Light in the play, she knew where to look for the blue bird of happiness. She put herself in "The Blue Bird" and played the part of Light.

In the cast was a lovely girl of fifteen named Renee Lahon. Maeterlinck was attracted to her and eight years later Georgette packed her belongings to make her way for the young second wife of the middle-aged poet. But she never could be to Maeterlinck what Georgette had been, for as he himself wrote: "Man is granted only one love."

A strange being, Maeterlinck, and a strange fascinating woman, Georgette Leblanc, especially with the three-karat diamond she wore in the middle of her forehead. In time to come someone will write a masterpiece called "Maurice and Georgette," but the author will try all in vain to explain the man who could say so beautifully: "There is no death," and, at the same time, bump off his wife's pet cat with a shotgun.

LOTTERIES—Lotteries have three elements—Prize, Consideration, and Chance, and violate state and federal laws. In Canada they are prohibited under the criminal code.

PUNCH BOARDS—The U. S. Federal Trade Commission has declared that punch boards are lotteries and the sale of merchandise by such methods to be unfair competition. In Canada they are also regarded as lotteries.

SWEETSTAKES—Sweepstake lotteries violate postal laws of the United States and Canada. Many are swindles that benefit only the promoters.

ADJUSTORS—There are many fake insurance adjustors who obtain advance fees for completing certain forms, whereas the insurance companies will be glad to do this without cost.

ADVISORS—Some so-called insurance advisors or counselors charge advance fees for advice that is worthless and for services that the insurance companies render without charge. Some, posing as giving unbiased advice, are actually "twisters" interested in switching you out of one set of policies and selling you others, either directly or through confederates, so as to pocket commissions.

BARGAINS—Unreliable insurance companies doing business by mail sometimes offer what seem to be extremely low prices, whereas in reality the price is excessive, if the protection is carefully analyzed.

Peach Crop May Be Quite Heavy

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—Pennsylvania's 1940 peach crop is expected to aggregate 2,500,000 bushels—the third largest in the nation—if favorable weather conditions continue. Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light said today.

Barring unusual hail damage or unfavorable weather between now and the harvest in the latter part of August and early September, Light said, the state's crop will be the best in recent years. He added that crops in other states were reported to be "considerably lighter" than last year.

Bahamas Planning Gigantic Welcome For Duke And Wally

(International News Service)

NASSAU, Aug. 5.—Numerous Bahama Island societies, lodges, church and school groups and Boy Scout units will participate in welcoming ceremonies for the Duke of Windsor, new governor of the Bahamas, and his American-born duchess, officials said today.

Complete plans have been made for the welcoming ceremonies, which will include an official function similar to those given for all new governors.

The Duke and Duchess are now en route from Lisbon, Portugal, aboard the American liner Excalibur.

Authorities stated, however, that they knew nothing of the Windsors' plans or itinerary after they arrive at Hamilton, Bermuda.

Record Opposition To Conscription

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 5.—The executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor was on record as opposed to conscription for military or industrial services.

Compulsory conscription, the board said, is a threat to democracy, and is not necessary to establish trained manpower for defense.

In a statement, prepared at the request of labor unions and individual union members, the board declared:

"Compulsory conscription would bring to our nation militarism with all of its evils of regimentation under which civil rights and liberties would be curtailed.

"We are vigorously opposed to any scheme for compulsory industrial labor conscription which is being advocated by some militarists. Any such scheme is merely a plan for forced labor, repugnant to all American ideals."

Trained manpower for defense, the board stated, can be built in accord with the traditional American policy of voluntary enlistment during peace times.

War Contracts Come To District

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—War contracts came to three Pittsburgh firms to join other national defense orders figuring strongly in the week's peak production status in the steel industry. Some $5,000,000 was involved in the contracts.

Steel operations were at 88½ per cent capacity and were expected to hold that rate next week. One year ago, they were at 55 per cent and a month ago, 78 per cent.

Union steel casting division of Blaw Knox Company received an order from the national defense advisory commission for $1,242,000 for gun mounts.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company received a contract for $3,518,689 worth of radar apparatus. The Mine Safety Appliance Company was awarded a contract for $546,570 for protective equipment units.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Fish ponds and lily pools make attractive landscaping. But they are dangerous spots for young children.

Last year 400 children under two years of age were drowned.

Most of these drownings occurred on home premises.

Children topple into ponds while playing about the yard.

Or they fall into cisterns, cess-pools, ditches or streams.

Low open barrels or vats containing water are a menace.

Curiously prompts tiny tots to climb up and look in.

Some mothers leave the children "just for a moment" in the tub.

While mother answers the bell, the child falls over and drowns.

Tiny children should not be left alone even for a short time.

Especially when they are in the tub or playing near water.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—Back from a one-month training course at Fort Meade, Md., Jay Cooke, Republican city chairman and U. S. senatorial candidate, today warned against the drafting of a great "herd" of untrained civilians for compulsory military duty.

Declaring that it would be "silly" to have great numbers of men take up training now, Cooke explained:

"We haven't the trained personnel or the equipment to take care of so many men. I am in favor, and have been all along, of compulsory training, but it would be more practical to have 300,000 to 500,000 men in training and to build this number up gradually."

Wednesday afternoon, August 21, has been set as the day and the place will be Muddy Creek Falls at the football camp. Ralph Gardner has kindly loaned the camp for the afternoon and the party is on.

In an order handed down Saturday, Judge W. Walter Branan grants a new trial to E. U. Snyder and H. C. Harper, following an appeal from a previous trial in which the jury returned a verdict of $3000 jointly against the defendants. The plaintiffs are William Goddard, a minor, by his father and mother, Ralph and Reba Goddard.

The case is one in which the minor child had his arm broken and was treated by the two doctors. Some difficulties set in and the arm has been practically useless since. The jury trying the case held that there was no joint negligence but returned a joint verdict of damages. This was appealed and judgment N. O. V. asked and also a new trial. The judgment N. O. V. is refused and a new trial granted.

WITH FLYING EXTRAS ALL HER OWN—NANCY LOVE PICKS THE CIGARETTE WITH THE EXTRAS—CAMELS

I LIKE THE SLOWER-BURNING CIGARETTE FOR EXTRA MILDNESS AND COOLNESS. AND THE EXTRA SMOKING IN CAMELS MEANS JUST THAT MUCH MORE PLEASURE

NANCY HARKNESS LOVE "soloed" at 16, won a transport license at 18, was flying with the best before Vassar gave her up to aviation. Today, she's one of the ranking women in the game. More than a pilot: Nancy Love tests planes, sells them—has even helped build planes.

Yes, she's a girl with the "extras." She likes the "extras" in her smoking, too. Camel's extra mildness, extra coolness, extra flavor, and extra smoking are aces with her—and with millions of other smokers.

You see, Camel's costlier tobaccos are matchlessly blended into a cigarette that is slower-burning. That means freedom from the harshness and irritating qualities of excess heat. Instead of hot, flat-tasting smoke, Camels give a full flavor and fragrance that hold their appeal to the last puff . . . to the last extra puff, for Camels, being slower-burning, give more puffs per pack (see panel at left). So turn to the slower-burning cigarette of costlier tobaccos and get those extras your smoke-money can buy!

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See panel at left.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

EXTRA MILDNESS EXTRA COOLNESS EXTRA FLAVOR

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

August is the time of year doctors keep eyes open for signs of the disease that yearly sweeps the land leaving cripples in its wake—infantile paralysis, which parents seem to fear more than any other.

During this month and until the first comes, we physicians always have this disease in mind every time we visit a sick child. At all times, if we find that a child has a fever and chills, headache and vomiting, we suspect an attack of some childhood contagious disease. In the late summer, we have the additional fear that it may be poliomyelitis, as doctors call infantile paralysis.

One of the remarkable things about the disease is the way its epidemics occur. They appear to start in the west and work their way east. Health officials can often foretell the time when a bad epidemic will strike. The disease appears first in August, and it may not stop until the first of October.

We still know too little about the causes of the disease. It occurs in epidemics, yet it doesn't seem to be particularly infectious. When a large number of cases break out in a district, they usually do not break out close together. A child in your home town may come down with it, and the next case to be reported may be blocks away. I know in this part of the country, ten or a dozen cases at a time are the general rule. Yet it isn't often you see two cases of paralysis in the same family.

This sets it apart from the other infectious diseases of childhood. For instance, when one of your children gets measles, you can expect the rest of the children to get it also.

Infantile paralysis rarely appears in the tropics. Its favorite haunt seems to be the Great Lakes area in North America. Up in this country, when the disease does hit, it finds its way to the most isolated sections. Children living on islands in Lake Nipissing, and having no contact with the mainland, have contracted it. Odd cases appear amongst the Indians and half-breeds away up around Hudson Bay.

HOW YOU CAN GET A CASH LOAN QUICKLY AND SIMPLY

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $6.97 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan without red tape or delay—if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors.

You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Thus you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to borrow

You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds, no salary or wage assignments. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment

You may expect every consideration in case of sickness or unemployment while paying on a Household Finance loan. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans. This action was taken only as protection against fraud.

If a loan can help you, phone or visit us for further information. No obligation.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Woodring To Be Called To Testify On Conscription Act

Opposition Grows To Proposed Acts

Barkley Predicts Vote Before Nightfall Upon Guard Mobilization

CONGRESSIONAL ROW LOOMS OVER ISSUES

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., said today he will demand the senate military affairs committee summon former secretary of war Woodring to testify on his voluntary enlistment program as a substitute for military conscription.

Johnson will make his request as the committee neared a final vote on the conscription bill and the senate began debate on authority to the president to mobilize the national guard for a year's training.

Wants Consideration

Johnson, a leader of the strong bipartisan bloc fighting conscription, emphasized the necessity of the committee giving full consideration to Woodring's proposals for continuation of the voluntary system through a one year enlistment period for the army at $30 per month.

"Former secretary of war Woodring, because of his long association with the war department, is in a better position than any other man in the United States to give the committee information concerning its personnel requirements," Johnson said.

"The committee would be derelict in its duties if it failed to hear this outstanding authority concerning the revolutionary change proposed in the induction of recruits into the army by the conscription bill."

The appearance of Woodring, who recently resigned because of his set opinions on national defense, would be "advantageous" to national defense, and "an intelligent preparedness," Johnson added.

To Call Gen. Parsons

Johnson will also request the committee to call Maj. Gen. James K. Parsons, quoted as declaring "America can be defended by an army of moderate size." Parsons was reported as saying: "There are alarmists who think we are wide open to attack. We are not. They are merely the victims of nightmares and ignorance. Such people are dangerous."

Senate administration leaders, admitting the conscription issue is shaping into one of the biggest congressional battles in years, hoped to pass the guard mobilization legislation with little opposition. Senator majority leader Barkley predicted a final vote before nightfall.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont. warned, however, that the isolationist bloc may offer the Woodring proposal as an amendment to the guard bill. Although the committee has opposed attempts to further limit the conscription program, some senators predict a compromise will be necessary before it is enacted.

Face Opposition

There is strong opposition to the passage of any kind of conscription bill in an election year. The present measure would require 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31 to register. They would become liable for a year's training in the nation's armed forces.

Much attention was being given the Maloney compromise proposal. It would set up the machinery for conscription, but postpone until January 1 the calling of the draft to give voluntary enlistment additional trial. This follows the suggestion by Woodring in his letter to Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich.

"I cannot see the need of compulsory military training at this time, and I should like to see the bill amended so that it does not become effective until, and after, the chief of staff of the U. S. Army has first advised the senate in writing that the voluntary system has completely broken down," Woodring said.

Dan McNally Next Conference Speaker

Evangelist Dan McNally, formerly a convict in the Missouri State penitentiary where he was converted to Christianity, will be the next speaker to appear at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle at the Fifth Annual Summer Bible Conference.

Record crowds attended the three Sunday sessions when Rev. Marmon L. Lowe, of Bible School Park, N. Y., concluded his special series of prophetic discourse on the Book of Daniel the Prophet. Many out of town people attended from Ellwood City, Evans City, Youngstown, Kittanning and Struthers.

Mr. McNally will begin his two weeks campaign at the tabernacle Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Former Resident Dies In Youngstown

Mrs. Mary Haid, of South avenue extension, Youngstown, O., and former resident of this city, died at her home, Sunday morning at 10:55 o'clock, following an illness of four and a half years.

Mrs. Haid was well known in this city, her parents having been born here and residing in this city. The deceased was the daughter of William and Jane Parcell Trick.

Mrs. Haid was the widow of Elmer Haid, who died a number of years ago. She was a faithful member of the First Baptist church of Youngstown.

Surviving are her daughter, Lillian Haid, of Youngstown, a brother Rev. R. D. Trick, of the First Baptist church, New Milford, Conn., and a sister, Mrs. T. W. Johns of Canfield, O.

She also leaves the following nieces and nephew, in New Castle, William Trick, Mrs. W. C. Spear, Mrs. C. B. Bates and Mrs. Robert Huston.

Funeral services will be conducted from the late residence, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. McAllister, her pastor, in charge. He will be assisted by Rev. Howells. Interment will be made at Oak Park cemetery, this city, where short services will also be conducted.

How strange it seems to have experienced military men as Secretaries of War and Navy. First thing you know, we may even use trained men to make laws.

Coal Prices Are Going To Be Higher
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—Apparently no comment was forthcoming today in regard to the new minimum prices announced by the bituminous coal division of the Department of Interior as it became certain that price increases most likely would hit the small domestic consumer and the light industry market.

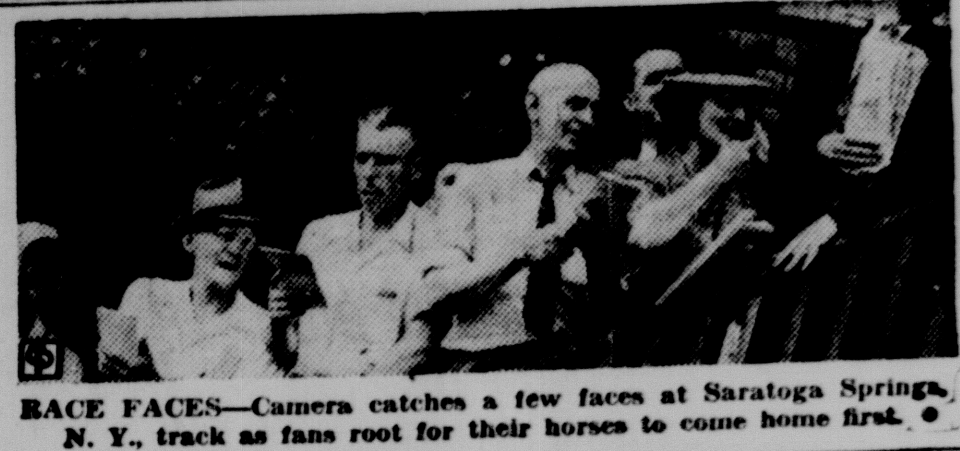

Executives for the large coal producing and consuming companies withheld any comment pending further study of the schedule, they said. The prices, under which Pennsylvania soft coal producers would receive from $1.39 to $2.75 a ton at the mines, are subject to appeals to Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes until they become effective September 3.

The low of $1.39 per ton was on three-quarter inch slack sold for shipment to Erie and other northern Pennsylvania points, while the high of $2.75 was set for the best grade six-inch lump for Cleveland and other eastern Ohio areas.

Johnston Picks Pastor To Win

Veteran Matchmaker At Madison Square Garden Thinks Pastor Will Punch Conn Silly

By LAWTON CARVER

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, 5—Aug. 5—James Joy Johnston today looked at boxing as only he might after closer to a half century of looking at it, and philosophized on the vagaries of fortune which have deprived him of managing the heavyweight champion of the world. The hard little man in the hard little derby could pass for 40 on his appearance, and on his enthusiasm and energy in the pugilistic business which has given him everything that any man might desire—except title to the heavyweight champion.

Now 65 years old, it is extremely unlikely that he ever will manage the heavyweight champion. In the first place Joe Louis doesn't plan to have anybody take the championship away from him soon. Moreover, Mr. Johnston's latest and only current candidate for the will-o-the-wisp he has chased all these years isn't good enough. This gent, of course, is Bob Pastor who fought Louis twice, once for the title, and failed both times with the result that he probably won't get another chance.

Picks Pastor To Win

"But I'll say this," Mr. Johnston snorted today as he peered out of his office window into the broadway which has known him for so long as manager, matchmaker, and promoter. "Billy Conn won't be soon, anyway. He isn't the champion. On Tuesday night of next week just as sure as I'm standing here and you're sitting there. Clever fighters and you're sitting there. He can lick a room full of them."

Mr. Johnston can get a lot of argument from a lot of people on whether Pastor can beat the current light heavyweight champion in the bout that will determine more or less conclusively Louis' heavyweight title challenger in September.

If Conn wins and looks good doing it, he will be tossed in with Louis. If Pastor wins he probably won't be given the Louis fight no matter how impressive his victory may be, for, as mentioned, he has boxed Louis twice already without much success and a third engagement between the two would only further confirm what seems to be an established fact, viz: Pastor can't beat Louis.

Don't Look Now! Grid Season Nears

On the heels of the mid-summer blitzkrieg crack-up, a bit of football chatter seems apropos.

For 'tis August and the wild cheers of pop-eyed fans rooting for touchdowns, field goals and "hold that line" seem to ring in our ears.

In less than two months, King Football re-enters the sports picture. As usual, it's safe to predict that the pig pelit dramas to be unraveled in America's colorful stadiums will make history.

Perusing a few of the programs, we note that in many cases the customary breathers, waiters and shadow boxing, depending on what you care to call the curtain raisers, are a thing of the past.

Southern California and Tulane, two of the 40 New Year's bowl performers, take on chunky foes for their opening numbers. The Trojans mix with Washington State while Tulane exchanges grid blows with Boston college.

Intersectional battles will feature the tee-off battles during the week-end of September 28. Michigan, an early season favorite in the Big Ten, hops to the coast for a tiff with California; Washington comes east to match wits with Minnesota, always a tough hombre. In Los Angeles, Southern Methodist and U. C. L. A. will skip the chalk lines. Pittsburgh's Panthers, now ranked a so-so foe, go up against Ohio State at Columbus.

A panting birdie hopped on our shoulder to whisper that Duke has a bumper crop of grid stuff. At least 10 deep in rear trenches, to be exact, Alabama's schedule maker hasn't reversed the order, meaning that the Crimson Tide will again have, what shapes up as, the softest card among the big-name clubs.

The Bama box with Spring Hill (unknown), Mercer (not in Pa.), Howard (7) and then come Tennessee, Kentucky, Tulane, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. The card has been arranged so that Alabama gets a week rest between the Tennessee and Kentucky setos.

The Fighting Irish will again spend considerable time on the rails. College of the Pacific, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech and Iowa will be home numbers. Then, Notre Dame will bunk in sleeping cars for the remainder of the season to tangle with Army, Illinois, Navy, Southern California and Northwestern.

TIGERS WIN IN SLUGFEST 15-14

The West Side Tigers won a slugfest City league game yesterday at Lee Avenue field from the Red Sox team 15 to 14. There were 37 hits recorded in the game. The winning hurler was Faller, the loser was McMillan.

The game was as weird a performance as seen this year in the city loop. The Red Sox batted in four runs in the first inning and the Tigers tied it up in the third. The Red Sox led 6 to 5 going into the last of the sixth, when the Tigers blasted in six runs. The Red Sox went on a rampage in the first of the ninth, scoring six runs before being retired.

Extra-base hits were made by Budal, Marvin, Minner, Brysh, Sovesky, Riley, Updegraff and McCongahy.

Sports World Ramblings

Monday sports wash—"Rabbit" Maranville and Al Krue, directors of the weekly baseball school at George Washington junior high field, are preparing to select an all-star aggregation. The team will represent New Castle in an inter-city series involving similar clubs from Butler, Sharon, Altoona and Johnston.

The tutors confided that the task is an herculean one, due to a current crop of sandlotters. This county is loaded with good baseball talent. Boy, these kids learn fast. Al and I can't make up our minds on the all-star team. I believe that the New Castle club stands an excellent chance of grabbing the district honors and then marching to Philadelphia to play in the finals." Maranville said during his last visit here.

It's simple to understand why the future diamond stars are shooting the works. Besides those trips here and there and a possible journey to Philly, members of the all-star squad receive complete baseball uniforms and medals. The suits, Maranville said, belong to the boys, regardless of where the New Castle team finishes in the district or in state tourney.

"Tex" Carlier waited two long years to get even with the Cincinnati Reds. Back in 1938, the lean Texan dropped seven straight mound decisions to the Rhineland-

WEST PITTSBURGH TRIPS RYANTOWN

The West Pittsburgh "Gas House" team went on a batting spree yesterday at the popular West Pittsburgh field and drove out a 15 to 6 win over the Ryantown team in a City league game. J. DeMonaco on the hill for the Danny DeGenova coached team, pitched a swell seven-hit game. At no time did the Ryantowns threaten.

Six runs in the first inning for the West Pittsburgh just about put the game on ice. Mike Marky, Albert Marky featured the game by crashing out terrific home run drives for West Pittsburgh, while other heavy hitting was done by Johnny DeMonaco, Aioe, John Elsser and Bodendorfer.

DeMonaco fanned five bitters, while Herno failed to whiff a man and Ostrosky fanned two men. Bodendorfer was the only Ryantowner able to get more than one hit off DeMonaco.

EYE 'HOPS' IN READING

When you read a novel of average length your eyes hop along for half a mile in sixteenth-of-an-inch skips. Type in the average novel, if laid end to end, would stretch out half a mile, according to the Better Vision Institute. In reading that type the eyes move along in hops about one-sixteenth of an inch. Longer novels, as "Gone With the Wind," contain several miles of printed lines.
